A veteran in the industry since 2006, Mick Stapleton is an expert leader and Finance Officer at Norris, Beggs & Simpson Financial Services. Since joining the company he has been directly involved with loan originations in excess of $1.1 billion. Mick has both sales and real estate research experience, providing him with a healthy foundation for real estate financing. He serves as part of our highly qualified loan origination team in attaining the borrowing and investment needs of our clients, which include major life companies, conduits, REITs and pension funds.

Mick is a graduate of the University of Denver where he attained a B.S. in Business Administration in Finance/Real Estate with a minor in Economics. Mick studied abroad in Prague, Czech Republic, at the Charles University. His focus there was Eastern European economics, art and architecture. Mick also worked at the U.S. Antarctic research center, McMurdo Station, prior to his commercial real estate career.
